

Employee discounted travel and late availability cruises

Onboard discounts effective from cruises departing after 1 April 2026

At Carnival UK, we want our colleagues to experience the same unforgettable holiday happiness that our guests experience when they step on board our iconic, world-class ships.

Maximise your holiday experience with a range of onboard discounts.

When you book a cruise as part of the Employee Discounted Travel policy (including late availability cruises), you're also entitled to a wide range of onboard discounts.

We're unable to provide some of these discounts automatically, and it's your responsibility to ensure you understand how these discounts are applied.

This document outlines the discounts that are available and how you can claim them.

Important information

Who's entitled to the discount?

These discounts only apply to guests travelling in your cabin(s).

How do I apply for the discount?

You must book your dining onboard in order to receive these discounts. Under no circumstances should colleagues contact the ship directly before travel to book dining.

For P&O Cruises, from Mid May 2026, discounts will be applied automatically for onboard bookings/payments.

For Cunard, when you arrive at the venue, you will need to show your Staff Laminex (Carnival House Pass) to receive the discount. If you don't have a Staff Laminex, the dining team will be able to check your cabin is eligible for the discount.

What if I want to pre-book my dining before I travel?

It is your choice as to whether you wish to pre-book dining to guarantee a table or wait until you are onboard to receive your employee discount. Pre-travel bookings made via MyCruise may have promotional discounts applied at different rates. The onboard teams will not cancel/refund pre-cruise bookings or switch them to Employee Discounted Travel discounts.

What's excluded?

Discounts cannot be applied to:

- Any Food Hero or Celebrity hosted events.
- Selected Limelight Club acts (please check onboard).
- Food ordered via room service.

Onboard discounts cannot be used in conjunction with any other offer.
